A Message from Pastor Arlene:

So, as I labor along this last week at Duke Divinity School, I am enjoying the certainty that I will finally be with you all again next Sunday! Praise God!

I was reading the book of Hebrews this morning. Get out your Bibles, this is good stuff! Our church-wide daily bible reading plan (get a bookmark with the readings in the hallway on the "Form" wall) for today led me to Hebrews 12. Now, I know on Sunday mornings we are in a sermon series about Muddled Relationships, and how to navigate having healthy interactions with other humans. No easy task! When I read Hebrews 12:15, it seemed to stress what the Sunday series is getting at: "Look after each other so that none of you fails to receive the grace of God. Watch out that no poisonous root of bitterness grows up to trouble you, corrupting many."

Those last two words struck me as strange. "corrupting many." But if you think about it, when a bitter root is in our hearts, doesn't it color our whole lives and everyone we happen to encounter as we go? If one person betrays you, don't you wonder who else will betray you? When you are cheated, don't you look for signs of cheating in others? Or how about this: have you ever met someone who just can't stop talking about how so-and-so hurt them? Just one little root of bitterness can poison an entire family with anger and resentment, stealing kind feelings.

The answer? Hebrews tells us the answer is to look after one another, making sure each of us receives the grace of God. The best thing we can do for someone who is angry or bitter is remind them of the grace of God that covers them and covers the situation. A great word for healthy relationships! And just like you, I need help in that area. I am with you in the journey! (See you next Sunday!)
