A NOTE FROM PASTOR SHARI:

This week we are back to answering your questions. Here is a good one! “How can only one interpretation of the Bible be correct? Or, to put it another way, “You interpret the Bible one way, and I interpret it another. Who’s to say who is right? I am going to use a theological word here: Hermeneutics. It is the field of study that centers on the theology and art of interpretation of Scriptures. Whether you are studying a whole Bible book, a particular passage of Scripture, or a single word there are certain principals which can help us come to understand what the Bible is saying. Those principals, which everyone of us can and should apply, are called hermeneutics. The brightest scholars and our young children can use the same methods to mine the nuggets of truth out of the Bible, and so can you!

I will share a few this morning. First things first. Pray for the help of God’s Holy Spirit. Jesus said to his friends in John 16:12, “When the Spirit of truth comes, he will guide you into all truth.” Then, put your trust in God that God intends you to understand what he has said. The very nature of God is that God desires to reveal himself. You have often heard me say that my daily prayer is, “God, reveal yourself to me.” I have come to trust that God desires to do so. But it is up to me to open my heart as I open the Book! I know I haven’t finished answering this question – stay tuned for more.

I Love Being Your Pastor and I Love You!
